

LAUGHTER AND PLAY FOR STRESS AND FOR HEALING

Audience: General, especially useful for work units so participants can continue to help one another in managing stress.

Description:

There are many strategies useful in managing stress. The workshop, “Preventing Burnout/ Managing Stress,” provides an overview of many of the techniques. This particular workshop focuses on the importance of laughter and play as major components of healthy mind-body connections in the face of both everyday stressors and in the event of crises—especially health crises. Handouts, minimal lectures and lots of activity.
